Preface

The Australian and New Zealand Standard Industrial Classification (ANZSIC) has been produced by the Australian Bureau of Statistics and Statistics New Zealand for use in the collection and publication of statistics in the two countries.

It replaces the Australian Standard Industrial Classification (ASIC) and the New Zealand Standard Industrial Classification (NZSIC). The development of the ANZSIC resulted from firstly, the need to update the earlier classifications in accordance with the changing structure of the Australian and New Zealand economies (introduction of new industries and decline of some old industries) and secondly, the need to improve comparability of industry statistics for Australia and New Zealand. International comparability has been enhanced by aligning the ANZSIC with the International Standard Industrial Classification of All Economic Activities (ISIC), Revision 3, wherever possible.

The ANZSIC (ABS Catalogue No. 1292.0 & NZ Catalogue No. 19.005.0092) contains a description of the classification, titles and codes, the detailed classification, concordances between the ANZSIC and ASIC, NZSIC and ISIC as well as reverse concordances, and a non-exhaustive alphabetic list of those primary activities specified under class headings in the detailed classification. Each ANZSIC class in the detailed classification is defined in terms of a specified range of economic activities designated as primary to it - hence the term 'primary activities'. Primary activities listed under generic class headings such as "Confectionery Manufacturing", for example, are by no means intended to comprise an exhaustive list.

The Alphabetic Coding Index (ABS Catalogue No. 1293.0 & NZ Catalogue No. 19.067.0000) is designed to code business units from descriptive information about their activities. It is a much more extensive index of primary activities than that which is contained in the detailed classification.

Description

With the objective of producing an index which is both a comprehensive and useful guide to the ANZSIC detailed classification, the following steps were taken:

- where practicable, activities have been cross-referenced, eg "Forklift trucks mfg" is also indexed as "Trucks, forklift, mfg";
- selected primary activities, such as those relating to installation, have not only been indexed in the usual manner but also under the common activity word, ie "Installation of...", thereby bringing all primary activities relating to installation together in the index. Repair and leasing activities amongst others have also been treated in this manner, and
- in cases where an activity description has been qualified in some way eg "Steel pipes or tubes mfg (except cast or forged iron or steel)" efforts have been made to include complementary entries in the index, eg "Pipes or tubes mfg (cast or forged iron or steel)".

An important point to note is that the Index has been prepared mainly for use as a guide in locating the classes to which activities are primary, and does not contain all the information necessary for the more specific purpose of classifying a particular business unit. The latter necessitates reference to the ANZSIC detailed classification itself, the main reasons being:

- in classifying a business unit engaged in a number of activities, which are primary to different classes, it is necessary to consider the divisions, sub-divisions and groups to which the unit's activities are primary, before classifying the unit to a particular class, and
- in certain circumstances, a single activity is designated as primary to more than one class. The index entry for an activity which is primary to more than one class refers only to the class to which a business unit mainly engaged in that activity would be classified on the basis of the normal assessment of the major activity (ie as if there were no overlapping classes). For example, 'mens' clothing retailing' is shown in the Index as primary to Class 5221 Clothing Retailing. However, a business unit whose predominant activity is retailing of clothing, but which meets the conditions specified in the definition of Class 5210 Department Stores, would be classified to Class 5210, not Class 5221.

Many of the primary activities in the Index denote a commodity and a process (eg "Kiwi fruit growing"). The aim has been to use the term which most effectively describes the activity, and hence some of these terms relate to variants of a more general type of process (eg "growing" has been used as a variant of "farming"). Some general terms followed by their variants are listed below:

- farming - growing, breeding, grazing;
- fishing - catching;
- mining - quarrying;
- manufacturing - refining, assembling, making;
- construction - building, erection, and
- leasing - hiring, renting.

In general, the primary activities have been expressed in specific terms such as:

- copper ores mining;
- salt crushing, and
- fruit, fresh, retailing.

However, in some circumstances it has not been possible to use such specific activity descriptions and the activities have been expressed in more general terms. For example:

- trading bank operation;
- investment club operation, and
- dental insurance provision.

In cases such as the foregoing, the intention is that each primary activity includes only those activities which relate strictly to the function of the organisation described. For example, the primary activity "trading bank operation" should not be taken to include non-banking activities which some trading banks may undertake (eg the provision of travel agency services).

In other cases it has been useful or only possible to specify primary activities by reference to occupational descriptions. For example:

- barrister (own account);
- radiologist (own account), and
- author (own account).

In these cases the term 'own account' is used to indicate that the services provided should be those by businesses and other organisations (including self employed persons) and not by wage and salary earners.

Abbreviations

Abbreviations used in in this Alphabetic Index of Primary Activities are:

- . n.e.c      not elsewhere classified;
- . mfg        manufacturing, and
- . incl.      including

Other Products

The ANZSIC (ABS Catalogue No. 1292.0 & NZ Catalogue No. 19.005.0092) was published on 31 May 1993 and should be used in conjunction with this publication.

A range of other ANZSIC products and services will be made available, including a computer assisted coding package and a detailed concepts and methods publication.

The computer assisted coding package operates within a Windows environment and utilises a 'string search' algorithm enabling matches with entries listed in the ANZSIC coding index.

The detailed concepts and methods publication will contain detailed technical information about the formation of classes and the interpretation of definitions. It will also contain information about the procedures used to code business units when more information is available than a general description.

Enquiries should be directed to the contacts listed in this publication.
